In the annals of true crime, there are few stories as shocking and unforgettable as that of I'll Buy You a Cadillac. This is the true story of a young woman who fell in love with a man who turned out to be a dangerous con artist and murderer.

The woman, who wishes to remain anonymous, met the man, who called himself "Mike," at a bar in Las Vegas. Mike was charming and handsome, and he quickly swept her off her feet. He told her he was a wealthy businessman, and he promised to take care of her for the rest of her life.

The woman was head over heels in love with Mike, and she believed everything he told her. She quit her job and moved in with him, and they began planning their future together.

But soon, the woman began to notice that things didn't add up. Mike's stories about his business dealings were vague and inconsistent, and he seemed to have a lot of money but no visible means of income.

The woman confronted Mike about her concerns, but he always managed to smooth things over. He told her that he was just being protective of her, and that he didn't want her to worry about his business.

But the woman couldn't shake the feeling that something was wrong. She started to do some digging into Mike's past, and she soon discovered that he was not who he said he was.

Mike's real name was not Mike at all. He was a convicted con artist with a long history of fraud and theft. He had been arrested multiple times, but he had always managed to escape justice.

The woman was horrified. She realized that she had been living with a dangerous criminal, and she feared for her life.

The woman knew that she had to get away from Mike, but she was afraid of what he would do if she tried to leave him. Mike had threatened her in the past, and she knew that he was capable of anything.

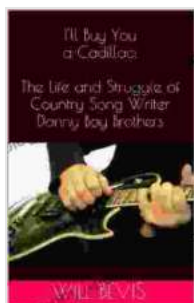

But the woman was determined to survive. She made a plan to escape, and she carried it out with the help of her friends and family.

The woman is now safe, and she is telling her story in the hopes that it will help other women avoid falling victim to con artists and predators.

I'll Buy You a Cadillac is a shocking and unforgettable story of love, betrayal, and survival. It is a must-read for anyone interested in true crime, and it is a cautionary tale for anyone who has ever been in a dangerous relationship.
